Common Caregiver Concerns

MY LOVED ONE:

Shows signs of dementia.

May be unsafe at home or while driving.

Sees several different doctors who infrequently communicate with each other – or me.

Is confused by the many medications he/she takes.

Is prescribed medications by different doctors.

Neglects to ask doctors the hard questions or accurately relay information.

May require at-home care or need to spend time in a nursing home.

"Not only has (Barbara) steered my aunt (who lives in New York City) through the healthcare system and subsequent therapy so that she is now back in her own apartment, but she has also become a very kind and trusted confidant to her. Barbara always provided or arranged discrete support to take care of the practicalities, and never lost sight of my aunt's quality of life and how important her independence is to her. The whole family feels very lucky that we found Barbara."

Umbrella Care Management Can Help!

Addressing the various needs of an aging loved one can be incredibly stressful and frustrating. Challenges like distance, personal conflict, and time constraints are only compounded by our often convoluted healthcare system.

Umbrella Care Management's certified case managers can help overcome those challenges by providing expert guidance and strong patient advocacy. We take a patient-centered approach to healthcare management, evaluating each patient's "whole picture" to create a holistic plan that addresses varied but often interrelated problems.

Our Geriatric Care Managers:

- Advocate in the best interest of the client and the family.
- Understand the complexity of our healthcare system.
- Are the "eyes and ears" for distant family members.
- Alleviate the strain that can creep in between child and parent in role-reversal situations.
- Carefully address difficult interpersonal issues.

Trust our experts to provide the guidance you need to navigate these difficult situations, alleviate stress, and save you time away from work and your family.

"Several months ago my friend faced a multi-faceted, life-threatening mental and physical crisis. Family circumstances meant that he was essentially alone... he was bouncing in and out of hospital emergency rooms, unable to get the medical help he needed or to take care of himself at home.

I cannot imagine that there are many problems of caregiving as complex and difficult as the one
Barbara walked into when she first went to meet my friend. As soon as I was able to get in touch with her, she started to do what needed to be done. She arranged living arrangements and dealt with multiple health professionals. She has been an answer to prayer.

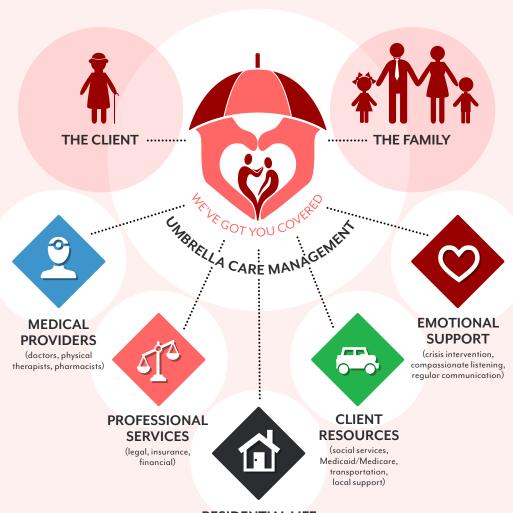

I am profoundly grateful to Barbara for what she has accomplished."

Umbrella Care Management Co-Founder & President Barbara Wilhelmy

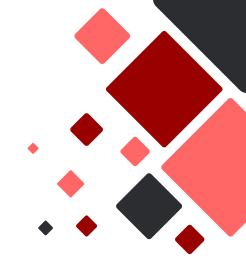

Umbrella Care Management Co-Founder Barbara Wilhelmy is a Registered Nurse who has two decades of experience in case management and discharge planning. Equally as important, she has also been a caregiver to her 90-year-old grandmother and chronically ill, disabled father-in-law for many years. Her experiences on both sides of the aisle have given her a unique understanding of the complexities involved in navigating the worlds of medical care, social programs, and entitlement eligibility.

It's that understanding that has shaped Umbrella Care Management's mission: to ensure the best possible quality of life for our clients, and to provide peace of mind for their caretakers.

WE'RE HERE TO HELP.

We encourage you to reach out with any questions or concerns you may have regarding senior and/or disabled care.
